The Service Desk is now live

Dewan Motors (Pvt) Limited

From today, every IT request is raised, tracked and closed in one system. No more phone calls that get forgotten and no more requests lost in WhatsApp. This short guide tells you how to sign in and what to do.

337
staff accounts

14
locations

18
departments

STEP 1

Signing in

Your mobile number is your user name.

YOUR CREDENTIALS

User name

Your mobile number

Password

abcd1234

Starting password only — you will replace it on first sign-in

- Enter it any way you like
  3018298234, 0301-829 8234 or +92 301 8298234 all work.
- You will choose your own password at once
  The system asks for a new one the first time you sign in. Nobody else will know it.
- You will only see your own company and location
  The two boxes at the top of the screen show which one you are viewing.
- Forgot it later on?
  Contact IT. They cannot read your password, but they can issue you a new one.

STEP 2

Raising a ticket

Anything broken, missing or needed from IT starts here.

Open Tickets

Left-hand menu, then click New ticket.

Say what is wrong

One clear line. "Printer not printing, 2nd floor" beats "urgent".

Add the detail

What you were doing, what happened, the error. Attach a photo if it helps.

Set the priority

Honestly. It sets the deadline IT is measured against.

Create

You get a ticket number. Quote it whenever you follow up.

Not sure if it is a ticket? A fault, a request or a question for IT is a ticket. Something that has to be built or changed in the software is a Development request.

STEP 3

Priorities and deadlines

The priority you pick decides when IT must respond.

| PRIORITY | FIRST REPLY WITHIN | FIXED WITHIN | USE IT WHEN |
|---|---|---|---|
| Critical | 1 hour | 8 hours | Work has stopped for a team or a location. |
| High | 4 hours | 24 hours | You cannot do your job, but others can. |
| Medium | 8 hours | 48 hours | It slows you down; there is a way around it. |
| Low | 24 hours | 120 hours | A request or an improvement, nothing urgent. |

Every ticket shows a coloured label: On track, At risk when the deadline is close, and Breached once it has passed. Management sees these figures, so priorities set honestly are what keep the numbers meaningful.

STEP 4

What happens after you raise it

You are notified at every stage — watch the bell icon.

Open

Ticket created.
IT is notified at once.

In Progress

An IT engineer is assigned by name.

Resolved

The fix is recorded.
You are notified.

Closed

Done. Still broken?
Reply and it reopens.

You can comment on your ticket at any time — to add information or to ask where it has reached. Once it is resolved you can rate it out of five. That rating is how IT knows whether the job was actually done to your satisfaction.

ROLES

Who does what

Your role decides what appears in your menu.

|---|---|
| Every employee | Raises tickets and development requests, and follows their own. |
| Department heads | The above, plus creating and assigning tasks in their department. |
| IT support staff | Work the tickets assigned to them and record the fix. |
| IT managers | Assign tickets to engineers, resolve, close and report. |
| DGM and management | See everything across companies and locations; assign tasks. |

Tasks are not tickets. A ticket is something broken or needed from IT. A task is a piece of work given to you by your head of department or by management, with a due date. Both appear in the left menu.

HELP

Everything else is in the system

Sign in and open User guide in the left-hand menu. It is written for your role — it shows only the steps you can actually perform, lists the IT team for your company with their mobile numbers, and answers the questions people ask most.

Please raise a ticket first.

It gives your request a number, a deadline and a record. Phone only when it is genuinely urgent.
